

Z E R O

This is where everything begins, ends, and begins again. It is the point of creation and death, no beginning or end.

Zero is infinity's twin.

*It is the point at the center of our being,
untouched by extremes, yet embodying
their pure essence.*

*Inner and outer worlds unite becoming
one. For a moment everything is simultaneous and has equal status, in particular light and matter.*

Here there is a perfect balance.

This is no place and

There is no time here.

This is where two become one.

This is the Stillpoint

of a complex and turning world.
